

Davidson Fellow

Julia Scott Carey

($10,000 Scholarship Recipient)

Personal Info

Name: Julia Carey

Age: 15

Wellesley, Massachusetts

School Info

Julia attends Milton Academy, a private school in Wellesley, MA. She will enter the tenth grade this fall.

Davidson Fellows Submission Humanities: Music

Julia composed Compositions for Orchestra and Chamber Groups, which consists of five orchestral scores, one string orchestra score and two chamber works, to support her belief that music is an international language, crossing boundaries not only of speech, but time and distance.

Biography

By the age of five, Julia Scott Carey had developed her own notational system to write down her compositions; she has been composing ever since. Her orchestral works have been played by over a dozen orchestras, including the Boston Symphony, the Boston Pops, the Indianapolis Symphony, and the Boston Civic Symphony. Her chamber works have had multiple performances by the Boston Chamber Music Society in the United States and by several groups in France, Germany, and Russia. At the New England Conservatory, Julia studies composition with Rodney Lister, and piano with Sergey Schepkin. She lives in Wellesley, Massachusetts, with her parents and her younger sister, Lizzie.

College/Career Plans

Julia hopes to attend a college with strong programs in music and math. At present, she is planning a career in music, but it also considering math and science.

Please see next page.

Davidson Fellow

Julia Scott Carey
(Con't)

Honors/Awards

- Davidson Fellow, September, 2001
- New England Conservatory Certificate of Achievement for Composition, Level IV (Honors)
- New England Conservatory Certificate of Achievement for Composition, Level III (Honors)
- New England Conservatory Certificate of Achievement for Composition, Level II
- Massachusetts Music Teachers Examination Award, Level VII, With Distinction
- Preparatory Studies Junior Certificate, Longy School of Music
- Pinnacle Scholar, Pinnacle Project, The American Psychological Association
- ASCAP Foundation Morton Gould Young Composer Award, for Sabrina Lake Sketchbook
- Milton Young Musicians Festival, Piano-level 8, gold medal
- American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers 200-2001 Plus Award Recipient
- National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts Young Composer Awards, Junior Division, Second Prize, for Pas de deux
- ASCAP Foundation Morton Gould Young Composer Award, for The Legend of Old Befana
- Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) Student Composition Competition Junior High School Division, Eastern Division and National Winner, for The Promise
- ASCAP Foundation Morton Gould Young Composer Award, for the triple concerto, The Crossing
- International Young Composers Competition, St. Petersburg, Russia, Honorable Mention, for the trio, Tempest Trilogy
- Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) Student Composition Competition High School Division, Winner, Saturday, February 12, 1944
- Marilyn K. Glick Young Composers Showcase/Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, Winner, for the orchestral score, The Snow Queen
- ASCAP Foundation Morton Gould Young Composer Award, for the orchestral score, The Snow Queen
- International Young Composers Competition, St. Petersburg, Russia, Second Place, for the piano trio, The Upstairs Room
- ASCAP Foundation Morton Gould Young Composer Award, for the string quartet, Triptych
- New England Pianoforte Teachers' Association Composition Competition, First Place, for the piano trio, The Upstairs Room

Community Service:

As a soloist and a chamber performer, Julia has performed at retirement homes, fund-raising events, and church and community celebrations.